1. PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Dear Members

At the ISA World Congress in Durban the new board took office. Again I want to thank all who have trusted the candidates and voted. You will find the names of the new board in this Gazette.

I think the former board, especially Bernhard Nauck as president, did a wonderful job and we can build on his work. This is especially true for the new constitution and bylaws (also in this gazette) and the homepage, which we can hopefully develop. I also want to thank Chin-Chun Yi who chaired the nominations committee. This is a tough job - as I had this task the previous time. It is not easy to serve the interests of all the members.

What I enjoyed in my work in RC06, the Committee on Family Research, so far, was its openness to different paradigms and different scientific perspectives. We will surely keep this alive. We also want to encourage especially young scientists to submit their work to our conferences. Therefore, I asked Vice-President Rudy Seward to prepare a concept and look for possibilities with regard to establishing an award for young scholars. You will find a column by him in this Gazette.

In order to save money and time, as well as to catch up with the internet world, it was proposed that the CFR-Gazette will in the future be distributed to members via e-mail. As we know, some members might still want a hard copy of the Gazette, and they may choose so. To see what you think about it, please answer the questionnaire we have prepared in this issue of the Gazette.

Several interim meetings are under discussion. Next year (2007) we will meet in Toronto and I hope that you have already responded to the call for papers, distributed to members in September. Future plans include meetings in Boston, Lisbon, Prague and perhaps Bremen. We will keep you informed as the discussions progress.

I am looking forward to serve the Committee on Family Research in the next term, and I can assure you of the commitment of the entire CFR-board.

Rudolf Richter

2. HONORARY PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Now when I have been professor emeritus for some years, I have realized that my situation is almost totally different from those who are still in active and responsible ages. However, I am still working in writing articles and books, giving some lectures, supervising a number of students. But I have no regular responsibilities.

Beside the regular responsibilities I do not have and all lectures I do not give, I am lucky in another way. The struggle to “publish or perish” and the struggle to apply for and receive research grants or perish are both gone. During all my years I have tried to fulfill the three main tasks as a university professor, the task of being at least a decent teacher, the task of publishing and thus showing attempts at trying to help science to move further, and the task of giving the surrounding community feedback via popular writing and giving answers to journalists.

I still try to fulfill these tasks, but I have no pressure from outside of doing so. In the last issue of Symbolic Interaction (29, 2006, 235 – 257) Philip Vannini has an article named Dead Poets' Society: Teaching, Publish-or-Perish, and Professors' Experiences of Authenticity. I highly recommend that article to all involved in the business. He has interviewed a number of professors of various ranks and shows some of the varieties he has found.

My reading is that we have not only the simple variation of those who try to see their authentic identity as both teachers and scholars and those who do not. Reality is more interesting and rich in variation.

3. FROM THE SECRETARY

Dear CFR-Members

I would like to start by congratulating Irene Levin for doing a commendable job as secretary/treasurer during the past eight years. We are fortunate to retain her valuable input on the CFR board as a member at large for at least the next four years.

Allow me to bring a few important matters under your attention:

- Please be so kind as to inform me if any of your contact details have changed. You are welcome to send me an email, using the following address: rsmit@uj.ac.za

- In the event that your CFR-membership fees are due, you are kindly requested to transfer the amount of US$40 (or US$10 if you are a student) into the CFR bank account.

CFR Bank Account

Country: South Africa                      Bank: ABSA
 Account number: 4066091839      Type of account: Cheque account
 Name of account holder: Committee on Family Research
 SWIFT address: ABSA ZA JJ      Clearing code: 632005

(Please note that it is in capital letters with the relevant spaces between the letters as indicated above). Please write me an email once you have transferred the money into the account.

An alternative (and more cost effective method of payment) is using your credit card details to pay you membership fee on the ISA's website.

- Our next interim CFR-conference will be held between May 8th and 11th 2007 at the St. George campus of the University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada. If you have not as yet received a call for papers, you are welcome to contact the organisers of the conference, Aysan Sev'er and Lorne Tepperman. Their email addresses are: sever@utsc.utoronto.ca teperman@utoronto.ca
- On the last page of this issue of the Gazette you will find a questionnaire requesting all members to indicate whether they prefer to receive the Gazette (a) in electronic format via email only, (b) as a hard copy mailed to a specified postal address, or (c) both as an electronic and hard copy. Would you please be so kind as to let us know, at your earliest convenience, what your preference is?
- A copy of the minutes of the CFR business meeting, held in Durban on July 26, 2006 is available on the CFR website.

Kind regards
 Ria Smit

5. CFR CONSTITUTION AND BYLAWS

As revised in 1993 Revisions 2005

CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMITTEE ON FAMILY RESEARCH

I. PURPOSE

A. The purpose of the Committee on Family Research (CFR) of the International Sociological Association (ISA) is to encourage family research of high quality within and between countries.

II. ACTIVITIES

A. To fulfill this purpose the CFR engages in the following activities:

1. It organizes the sessions on family at the meetings of the ISA.
2. It sponsors international seminars on topics of theoretical, methodological or substantive importance as well as international training seminars to add to the skills of family researchers.
3. It arranges for the publication of matters of importance in the research area of family.
4. It provides an international roster of family sociologists for individuals and organizations seeking consultation or research associates.
5. It seeks to keep its members informed of CFR activities.
6. It engages in additional activities approved by the Executive officers with the consent of the membership.

III. MEMBERSHIP

A. Regular or student membership of the committee is open to all members of national sociological societies, members of research institutes affiliated with the ISA, research oriented members of national and international family organizations, as well as non-affiliated individual scholars who have demonstrated interest in the area through teaching or research activities.

B. The individual becomes a member with full voting rights and other privileges of membership upon payment of dues. Non-payment of dues will lead to loss of membership six months after the final period paid for.

C. Dues are payable to the CFR secretariat; the amount is decided at the business meeting for the coming four year period for regular as well as for student membership.

IV. OFFICERS

A. There will be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary/Treasurer, and three officers at-large.

B. They will be elected from and by the membership and will constitute the executive Board of CFR.

V. REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION

- A. Upon written petition of 20 members to the President, an article or articles of this Constitution can be submitted to the membership for revision.
- B. Revision requires majority approval of those casting a vote on a mail ballot.

BYLAWS

VI. ELECTIONS

- A. Elections of officers will be held by mail ballot once every four years in the year prior to the ISA world congress.
- B. Ballots will be sent to the members on the Secretary/Treasurer's list of members.
- C. Nominations will be made by the Nominations Sub-Committee with write-in nominations possible.
- D. There are usually two nominations for each office or at least one more than offices to be filled.
- E. If there is only one candidate, the candidate need 50% plus one vote in the ballots returned to be elected.
- F. A majority of those voting will constitute election for President, Vice-President and Secretary/Treasurer.
- G. Election of the officers at-large shall be by plurality of votes cast.
- H. Run-off elections will be held if necessary.
- I. Term of office will be for four years with re-election limited to one term.

VII. DUTIES OF OFFICERS

A. The President

- 1. shall preside as chief executive of the CFR at the meetings of the CFR and its Board,
- 2. will be responsible for seeing that the sessions of the CFR at the ISA meetings are organized,
- 3. will initiate and carry out policies in conformity to the CFR's purpose as specified by the Board and the membership,
- 4. is responsible for communicating CFR activities and plans to the members no less often than once a year; these include the time and place as well as the organizers of seminars and workshops and ISA sessions sponsored by the CFR, and will publish circular mails of the CFR,
- 5. shall maintain the website which will include at least the following:
  - a. public pages with such information as:

How to become a member and dues; Announcements including upcoming and planned Seminars; Constitution and By Laws; Current Officers (Board); Current circular mails and back lists; Abstracts of Seminars; Links; Other information of general interest.

b. members' pages which includes at least:

A current up-to-date list of members with expiration date of membership; Contact information, email, etc.; Institutional affiliation.

B. The Secretary/Treasurer

1. shall report at least annually to the secretariat of the ISA, current and planned activities of the CFR and other current matters of common concern,

2. is the financial officer of the CFR, makes disbursements under the overall supervision of the Board, presents a biannual report to the Board, including all transactions itemized,

3. shall prepare a membership list to be used for election purposes as provided for in Article IV, Section B.

4. shall announce to the membership the time and place of the general meeting.

C. The Vice-President

1. shall customarily chair the program of the ISA world congress,

2. shall become Acting President in the event that the President becomes disabled or resigns,

3. substitutes the President in the representation to the ISA in case of his/her unavailability.

VIII. BOARD OF THE CFR

A. The Board meets at least once every four years before the meeting of the CFR membership to set general policy for the CFR.

B. Major new activities undertaken by the CFR must first be approved by the Board.

C. The Board elects one representative and one alternative to the Research Council of the ISA.

IX. SUB-COMMITTEES

A. Nominating and Balloting Sub-Committee

1. This committee, to be headed by a member of the board with no invested interest into the composition of the next board, is responsible for preparing the list of nominations for CFR officers and members of the Nominating and Balloting Sub-Committee presented to the membership, and for conducting the elections.

2. The other two members of the Nominating and Balloting Sub-Committee shall be elected by mail ballot. A plurality of votes shall constitute election.

3. Its members should seek suggestions for nominations from the membership before the election making use of the Secretary/Treasurer's mailing to members.

4. Its nominations should reflect the international nature of the membership.

B. Program Sub-Committee

1. The President and the Secretary/Treasurer will constitute a sub-committee to consider offers from CFR members or representatives of other organizations to organize programs such as seminars and workshops under CFR sponsorship or joint sponsorship.

2. They will decide which offers to accept on the basis of the guidelines set forth in Article X.

C. Other Sub-Committees

1. The President, with the consent of the Board, may appoint such other sub-committees as is necessary to carry out the objectives of the CFR.

2. Terms of office of subcommittee chair and members shall not be longer than the term of office of the President.

3. Changes in chair must have Board approval.

4. A standing audit committee will be appointed by the CFR board and will be used to review financial matters as needed.

X. CFR OCCASIONAL ACTIVITIES

A. The membership of the occasional training or topic oriented program such as seminars and workshops sponsored or co-sponsored by the CFR should reflect its international composition.

B. The opportunity to participate should be made available to as many as possible.

C. Individuals who wish to organize a seminar or workshop may present their ideas to the President or to the Secretary/Treasurer.

D. Members wishing to participate may write to the organizers giving their competencies and interests.

E. Local organizers will have the final decision as to participants.

XI. RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

A. The CFR as an international organization cannot itself engage in research activities.

B. In the rare circumstances when its Board decides that the CFR should depart from a facilitating role and actively sponsor research, a majority of the membership at the general meeting must accept the decision.

XII. GENERAL MEETING

A. The general meeting of members shall be held in conjunction with the ISA world congresses.

B. Announcement of the general meeting will be given to members at least three months in advance along with a tentative agenda of business.

C. Action may be taken at any general meeting by a majority of members present and voting except in the case of election of officers. On any issue a majority of members present may request a secret ballot.

D. A written petition of 20 members to the President within six months of the general meeting can institute a mail ballot to the membership on any issue presented at the general meeting.

XIII. COOPERATION WITH OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A. The CFR welcomes the efforts of other international and national organizations to promote the meeting of family scholars and to encourage their research.

B. The CFR seeks to cooperate with such organizations on issues of common interest through joint program sponsorship or such other activities as will serve to advance its purpose.

XIV. REVISION OF THE BYLAWS

A. Bylaws may be changed by board recommendation and approval at a formal business meeting at a CFR function.

7. SUPPORT FOR YOUNG SCHOLARS

At the CFR (RC06) Board Meeting on 28 July 2006 at the ISA’s World Congress in Durban, President Rudolf Richter suggested the establishment of programs to support young scholars who are members of CFR and present papers at CFR conferences. Young scholars would include current graduate students and people who have received their Ph.D. within the previous 3 years at the time of the conference. Two possibilities were proposed for development. One means of support would be to provide travel funds to the best three papers by young scholars accepted for presentation at an upcoming conference. Another means of support would involve awarding a prize for the best paper presented by a young scholar at a conference. All the other board members present (Ria Smit, Irene Levin, Cristina Gomes, and Rudy Seward) expressed support for developing these options for review and approval by the CFR membership. Rudy was commissioned to work out proposals to be circulated among the CFR board members for an initial review. This review would include making needed revisions and eventually approval of a final proposal that will be presented to membership. As part of this process Rudy will check with ISA officials and regulations in regard to possible financial support, guidelines to follow, and possible restrictions. Jan Fritz, who is the new ISA Vice President for Membership and Finances, has been contacted about these proposals. The final proposal(s) approved by the board will be presented for discussion and possible approval at the business meeting to be held during the Toronto conference in 2007.
